

UPDATE: Backfilling activity at Arbutus Station continues through October

October 3, 2025

Note: The notice from August 25, 2025 includes this work and we have updated scheduling to share.

Backfilling has begun at Arbutus Station, the first station on the Broadway Subway Project to reach this milestone. Backfilling is the process of filling the space between the station roof and the surface with soil. This work will result in increased trucking activity, some traffic impacts, and intermittent noise as material is delivered into the excavation, moved into place and then compacted.

Construction Activities

- Work hours for backfilling are Monday to Saturday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

What to expect

- Backfilling activities will take place between Maple and Cypress streets.
- The first phase of backfilling is expected to continue through October and is weather dependent. Additional phases of backfilling will continue after permanent utility work is completed.
- Intermittent elevated noise related to delivery, moving, and compacting of material, and related activities.
- Dust mitigation measures will be implemented throughout the work.
- Approximately 12,000 cubic meters of soil will be placed, enough to fill five Olympic-sized swimming pools.
